OBSCURE REBELS

The Colombian Government Has Given Many Assurances to Revolutionists.

BUT THEY WANT MORE

In Addition to Generous Concessions the Rebels Want Debts Paid and to Participate in Government.

Senor Concha, Colombia's Minister to This Country, Makes a Comprehensive Statement.

Washington, July 10.—Senor Dor Jose Concha, the Colombian minister at Washington, has made the following statement regarding the terms of the revolutionists in Colombia if they will surrender, and of the existing conditions in that country:

"The Colombian government has offered to the rebels complete amnesty freedom of prisoners, help for transportation of the chiefs and soldiers of SENOR CONCHA.

the rebel army to their domiciles, with true security for their persons and property; reform of the electoral laws with the intervention of the prominent members of the revolutionary party; immediate convocation of congress and guarantee of liberty and security of suffrage in the next elections. The Colombian president, Senor Marroquin, was not in office when the revolution started in 1899, and what he offers today is the same he offered during his first administration in 1899.

"The Liberal directory in Bogotá has accepted the terms offered by the president and a great number of headquarters of guerrillas in the center of the country have surrendered, but the leader of the rebellion abroad, Senor Vargas Santos, has asked for the payment of the debts contracted in foreign countries by the rebels, and for the appointment of several members of the rebel party to some important positions in the government. The Colombian government has not acceded to these two demands. The conduct of Senor Vargas Santos is not approved by the majority of his party, and hence this chief has limited his pretensions to the appointment of a new cabinet, but the government has not yet answered this proposition.

"In Washington the matter is conducted by the Colombian minister who requested from the rebel leader Senor Vargas Santos, the issuance of a solemn protest against the intervention of foreign governments in the Colombian civil war, an intervention which was originated with the purpose to weaken Colombia in order to decide afterward the controversies of boundaries between those foreign countries and Colombia. The rebel leader has declined to issue and publish such a protest.

"The interior of Colombia is nearly pacified, the principal chiefs of the rebellion, Vargas, Uribe-Uribe and Soto have left the country after serious defeats. The only point at which the war continues with any importance is at Panama. The purpose of the rebels today is reduced to that of maintaining a situation that will make impossible the regular administration of the public affairs, especially in the isthmus, and protecting in this manner the interests of a neighbor which has a great interest in those disorders, so as to prejudice the United States against the canal and thus to prevent the negotiations in this matter. They remunerate the rebels' services with the supplies of arms, ammunition and soldiers with which to kill Colombian brethren, to annihilate public wealth and destroy the hope of progress of their own native country."

Hot Day in New York.

New York, July 10.—The police reports up to last night showed that seven people had been killed and eleven prostrated by the heat in Manhattan yesterday. In Brooklyn, where some street thermometers registered 95 deg at 1 p. m., two deaths and five prostrations were reported.

TAKING A REST

Republican Campaigners Waiting For Big Show to Open.

Indianapolis, July 10.—David E.
Sherick of Noblesville, Republican candidate for auditor of state, left Indianapolis this morning for Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. "I shall remain there for exactly thirty days," said he, "as I want to take a good rest before the opening of the campaign." Sherick has been doing considerable campaigning since he was nominated, and he expresses confidence in the ability of the Republicans to carry the state. Other politicians besides Sherick are now leaving for a rest before the big show is opened, so there will be a lull during the next month politically. Considerable work is being done by both the committees, but it is of a routine nature. At the Republican headquarters today it was stated that the regular force of stenographers and clerks is busy, but that the work is not being pushed, as it is too hot for people to take an active interest.

During the meeting of the State Bar association, which adjourned last night, there was much gossip relative to the federal judgeship for the district of Indiana. A majority of the attorneys are politicians, and they all have an eye on the bench, although all are not candidates. E. G. Hogate of Danville, C. C. Spierley of Kokomo, and R. O. Hawkins of Indianapolis, all of whom are regarded as candidates for Judge Baker's position, attended the bar meeting. There were a number of others at the meeting who are receptive candidates. It is understood that more than one talked with Senator Fairbanks and Senator Beveridge in hopes of getting nearer the goal. But the trouble with everyone seemed to be that Judge Baker's intentions were unknown. It was announced here and at Washington recently that Judge Baker had signified a willingness to resign any time the president was ready to name his successor, but this was denied, and now Judge Baker is about to start on his summer vacation without anyone being informed as to what he proposes to do. So there is nothing but another anxious spell for the candidates and their friends. It is not likely that there will be any change on the bench until after the first of the year at the earliest.

Roscoe Kirkman of Richmond was in Indianapolis last night. He was a prominent member of the house the last session of the legislature, and he hopes to be elected speaker of the next session. He says he is a candidate and that he proposes to remain in the race until the end. Kirkman has been quietly looking after his fances for some time, and he feels he stands just as good a chance now as anyone for the place. The other candidates are Henry W. Marshall of Lafayette and Joe Morgan of Indianapolis, who were also members of the last house. The race will be interesting if only these three men are entered, but it is quite likely there will be others. At present Marshall seems to have a shade the best of his opponents, but it may also be said that the race has not even fairly started. No one will be able to tell how it is going until right before the opening of the session unless there should be unexpected and unusual developments.

James Stutesman of Peru has said he is for Marshall and that he will not be a candidate himself, but many believe that James will enter the race before the finish and that he will prove a strong factor.

A meeting of the directors of the Logansport, Rochester & Northern Traction company was held at the Indianapolis office of the Union Traction company today for the purpose of arranging for the building of a line from Logansport to Rochester, Warsaw, Winona and Kendallville. The Logansport-Rochester company was organized three or four years ago, but was never able to finance the scheme until the Union Traction took hold. It is said that President McCulloch of the latter has made arrangements for financing the project and that it will be put through within the next year.
This will be an important line, as it will be the means of bringing into closer touch a section of country that is in need of greater facilities of transportation.

Samuel R. Artman of Lebanon, former speaker of the house, was here today. Recently he was nominated for judge by the Republicans of Boone county. He modestly refuses to predict his own election, but he has hopes of winning, although the county normally is Democratic by over 800. The Republicans nominated Artman for judge in order to strengthen the ticket, as they are anxious to elect a representative this time.

Lawyers Elect Officers.

Indianapolis, July 10.—The annual meeting of the Indiana Bar association closed yesterday. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Truman F. Palmer, Monticello; vice president, William P. Breen, South Bend; secretary, Merrill Moore, Indianapolis; treasurer, Frank E. Gavin, Indianapolis; executive committee, Enoch G. Hogate, Charles E. Shively, James E. Barrett and Harry B. Tut-till.

The King's Condition.

London, July 10.—King Edward's progress is reported as uninterruptedly favorable. His majesty reclines on a movable couch most of the day. It is announced that it is his majesty's present intention to be taken on board the royal yacht early next week.

IT IS ABOUT OVER

Strike of Chicago Freight Handlers Did Not Last Long.

RAILROADS WIN OUT

Upon the Vital Question At Issue
There Is Reported a Complete Victory For Railroads.

Lack of Unanimity Among the Strikers Made Their Position a Hopeless One.

Chicago, July 10.—The strike of the freight handlers is virtually settled.
Meetings of the strikers are being held today to ratify the action taken last night by President Curran of the order, but, as he stated after a conference with the general managers of the railroads that he had agreed to their terms because the majority of his men were "going back" on him, there is little doubt that the terms will be accepted by the mass meeting of the strikers.

By the terms of the settlement the strikers accept the schedule of wages offered them by the railroads July 1.
This schedule was emphatically refused by the strikers at the time it was made. It offered an average increase of 20 per cent for all classes of labor connected with the freight handlers' union. The demands of the men would have made an average increase of about 30 per cent. The railroads at the time of offering the increase on July 1 said that under no circumstances would they recognize the union of the freight handlers to the extent of allowing the officers of the organization to make terms for the men with the officers of the railroads by which they were employed. This was one of the chief reasons for the strike, the men insisting that the union should be fully recognized. The railroads have won a complete victory on this point. The attitude of the roads toward the freight handlers' union is the same as that maintained toward all local organizations of railroad men. The freight handlers demanded something that no other organization of railroad employees in Chicago had asked, and the managers announced that under no circumstances would they agree to this.

President Curran of the freight handlers' union said after the meeting with the general managers last night that he practically had been compelled by his own men to accept the terms of the railroads. "Two-thirds of the men would have gone to work in the morning anyhow," he said, "and it was simply a question of doing the best possible under the circumstances." The railroads agreed to take back all the strikers who apply for their old positions by noon today.

The Indianapolis Journal very appropriately suggests that the democratic party have a rummage sale of old issues.

AN attendance of 15,000 at the National Educational Association is proof of the professional interest of the educators throughout the country.

THE republicans of the second congressional district will meet in delegate convention at Linton today to nominate a candidate for congress. John C. Chaney, of Sullivan, will probably be the nominee.

PRESIDENT HARPER does not propose to muzzle his professors, but he insists that they shall not talk hereafter unless they have something to say. This seems harsh, but discipline is as necessary in a great educational institution as it is elsewhere.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

FOUR townships in Monroe county have voted a subsidy to the projected Indianapolis Southern railroad, which is further evidence that the promoters of the road have abandoned their intention to build it through Jackson county, if they ever had such an intention. The people of Brownstown gave up their good money for a survey as they thought, but have since learned that more of it was used for other purposes. As it looks now the investment was no better than the portable pantry enterprise, though we hope it will yet turn out all right.

THE Tammany society runs the Democratic politics of New York, and Bryan has many friends in Tammany, as the cheers at his Fourth of July banquet at the mention of his name prove. As the leader of 1896 and 1900 is a power yet in the politics of the state which was deemed to be most hostile to him, his existence is a very decided menace to the gentlemen who set out, at that recent Tilden dinner, to abolish him. The reorganizers who leave the Nebraskan out of their reckoning for 1904 are preparing a surprise party for themselves and their candidates.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Business of Commissioners.
At the August term of the commissioners' court the matter of the Mutton Creek ditch in Jackson township was reinstated and the report of the reviewers will be heard at the August term. The petition was dismissed at the June term.

Spectacles Cause Trouble.

A pair of gold-rimmed spectacles belonging to Mrs. F. M. Newcomb and found in the possession of Miss Ella Miller is likely to cause some trouble. The parties all live in the vicinity of Brownstown. The story as gathered from different sources is about as follows: Mrs. Newcomb missed her gold-rimmed glasses, which she claims were taken from her room at her own home. Miss Miller had been at the Newcomb home and Mrs. Newcomb concluded that Miss Miller had taken the spectacles. Miss Miller had come to Seymour and was visiting in the family of Mr. Jarvis on South Carter street. Mrs. Newcomb came up Wednesday evening and went to see Miss Miller, who said she had a pair of spectacles but that they were found on the road. She claims that she and two other parties were in a buggy and one of the other parties first saw the spectacles at the road side and got out and picked them up and that they were turned over to her. She was taken before the local court and told her story and was then released with the understanding that she should appear when wanted.

It was reported here today that an affidavit would be made against her at Brownstown today. Miss Miller makes positive denial of any wrong doing whatever. It is not improbable that considerable litigation, probably a civil suit, will follow, though the REPUBLICAN is not fully advised as to this.

Took Seymour Man's Hat.

Daniel L. Brown, who with Col. V. M. Backus has been in town on business the most of this week, says that he once took a Seymour man's hat and if he could ascertain who the owner of that hat was he would buy him a new one. It happened this way, Judge Brown was a soldier in the civil war. He enlisted in the northern part of Indiana and when the regiment went south they passed through Seymour. Between Columbus and Seymour his hat was lifted from his head by a gust of wind and was carried from the train. When the train pulled into Seymour and "sloved down" for the crossing Judge Brown was standing on the platform. He saw a good natured Seymour man with a good hat on his head within reach of the train. He reached out and plucked the hat and wore it to the southland. He was in great need of the hat then but now he would like to know whose hat it was that he wore when he went to war.

A report came down town this afternoon that the dog poisoner was doing business again and that Elder Thos Jones' fine bird dog was his latest victim.

Showed it clearly.
A man who was called on to address a Sunday school in a Pennsylvania town took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the poor old prophet, and how they were punished when the two she bears came out of the wood and ate forty-two of them. "And now, children," said the speaker, wishing to learn if his talk had produced any moral effect, "what does this story show?"

"Please, sir," came from a little girl well down in front, "it shows how many children two she bears can hold!"

A Difficult Case.
First Lawyer—How did you come out in settling up old Gotrox's estate?
Second Lawyer—It was a hard struggle.
"No!"
"Yes; I had hard work to keep the heirs from getting part of the estate."

Col. Barnett's Suicide.

THE STATE PRISON

Interesting Facts About the Penal Institution At Michigan City.

CONDUCTED ON MODERN LINES

Institution Has Undergone Extensive Changes During the Past Seven Years—Some Reforms Inaugurated Since 1895—Strict System of Accounting in Operation.

[Special Correspondence.]
Michigan City, Ind., July 10.—It is said that the state prison at Michigan City had its beginning in a veritable "pen" built of heavy timbers near the foot of Hoosier Slide nearly forty years ago. There is a great difference between that primitive prison and the substantial group of buildings in which 800 Indiana convicts are now paying the penalty of crime. The difference in buildings, however, is no greater than that in the spirit and methods characterizing the control of such institutions during the past third of a century. In states in touch with the times prisons are conducted on the theory that the problem of the convict is not solved when the gates of a prison close behind him—rather has the process of solution just begun. In the matter of prison reform Indiana stands with the most progressive states of the Union. Her two penal institutions—that at Jeffersonville, the reformatory for men of younger years, and that at Michigan City, the state prison, for offenders of maturer years and for life convicts, are conducted in accordance with the modern conception of the state's duty to the criminal unfortunate, and upon a system of strict accountability in business matters to the state. It may safely be said, however, that during the present era of control, dating back to 1895, far more progress has been made than during any similar period in the history of the state's institutions at Jeffersonville and Michigan City. Not only have marked improvements of a material character been effected, but a much nearer approach has been made to a realization of the doctrine set forth in the constitution of Indiana: "The penal institutions of the state shall rest upon the principle of reformation and not of punishment." During this period the state prison has practically been rebuilt, and change after change, resulting in the betterment of conditions, has been effected.

Warden Reed's Administration.

There is every reason to believe that in Warden Reed the board of control of the state prison has found an official entirely competent to not only continue but advance the program of improvement entered upon in recent years. He has entered upon his work not only with a disposition to make a record for efficiency in the management of the business affairs of the institution and the maintenance of discipline, but with a determination to realize from the parole law all its possibilities in the direction of reformation of the individual, and to show the unfortunates confined to his care his intention to make prison life endurable in proportion to the willingness of the prisoner to conform to the rules and make the best of the situation. The result of such a policy is a feeling among the men that the management of the institution is not hostile, but friendly, so long as it is met half way.

Business Management.

One of the features of the administrations of Governor Mount and Governor Durbin is the system of strict accountability which has been insisted upon in every state institution. At Michigan City, under this method of administration, the humblest taxpayer finds the books open for his inspection, and that inspection will reveal a system of bookkeeping and of double responsibility which makes it absolutely impossible for dishonest practices to be introduced without the complicity of an entire group of officials, and without, in addition, the knowledge of the warden and the board of control of the prison. Every bill for goods sold to the institution is filed in duplicate, and at the end of any month the aggregate amount of these bills, plus the pay-roll of the institution, equals the schedule of disbursements as shown by the books of the prison and of the auditor of state. Every dollar's worth of supplies, except to bridge over occasional temporary shortages, is purchased from the lowest and best bidder after public advertisement and notices sent to every responsible firm desiring to have consideration. The bids are opened and the contracts awarded by the board of control, composed of three reputable business men, and notice of the result of the bidding is sent to each bidder. The board of control audits every bill presented, and funds are paid out only on checks or warrants approved by the whole board and signed by the president of the board and the warden.

Details of the Accounting System.
The system of accounting is carried out with the greatest particularity. Supplies are disbursed only on requisitions which reach the warden every morning from the head of each department. These requisitions must be approved by the warden. The cost of each item is figured for each day on every requisition. It is thus possible to know at the close of any day what the per capita cost of maintenance has been, and indeed that information for the preceding twenty-four hours reaches the warden's desk every morning. Twenty-five years hence the person desiring to know just what the prisoners in the state prison had yesterday for breakfast, dinner or supper, just what amount they ate, and what each article cost the state, will be able to satisfy his curiosity by referring to the records being placed on file daily at this institution. The average cost of food per day per prisoner, it may be said in passing, varies from 7 to 11 cents. The quality and quantity furnished is all that could be desired. The meat used at the prison for instance, comes from Chicago once a week in refrigerator cars, and is at once transferred to a large cold-storage room within the walls of the prison. Every shipment received is carefully inspected before its acceptance, and promptly returned if found to be below standard or not in accordance with the specifications of the contract.

Storeroom Management.

The storeroom at the state prison is an object of interest to visitors. It is a large, light room where supplies are stored in such quantity that the appearance of a wholesale house is presented. It takes supplies in quantity to provide for the daily wants of more than eight hundred men. The storekeeper is held responsible for every article received by him, as shown by the invoices on file in the office of the chief clerk. At the end of each month the steward is required to come before the board of control with a detailed account of shrinkage and gain in supplies on hand, and at the end of the year an invoice is made by the chief clerk which must show the presence of all supplies received after deducting those issued, as shown by the requisition on file.

Changes Effected.

Under the regime beginning with the administration of Governor Mount corporal punishment has been done away with. The strap and the paddle are no longer disciplinary measures—it is doubtful if they ever accomplished more than the kindling of a spirit of resentment in the victim. Where prisoners formerly slept in the clothes worn through the day, they are now provided with nightshirts. Another innovation is the issuance of a special suit of clothes for Sunday wear. Where bathing was formerly done in tubs and often man after man in the same water, shower baths are provided once a week or twice if desired. The lock-step was done away with by Warden Harley. Stripes, the traditional badge of the "jail-bird," have been done away with, except as punishment for infractions of the rules. Three grades of uniforms have been substituted. Every man on entering is placed in the second grade and given a checked suit. If his conduct warrants promotion he is given the blue suit worn by men of the first grade. If he proves incorrigible, he is reduced to the third grade and placed in stripes. In the first grade there are 734 men, in the second 84, in the third 2. The men of the various grades are separated in the diningroom and made to feel the discredit that comes with failure to observe discipline. Under the new regime the whitewash has been scraped from the walls of the cells and paint substituted, with excellent effect. A system of ventilation has been installed which makes sleeping in the cells far more comfortable and sanitary than under the old conditions. Appliances for the removal of dust in the shops where convict labor is employed have been installed until they are to be classified with model factories from a sanitary standpoint. The library has been greatly improved, streets, cement floors, walks and sewers constructed, a modern steam plant installed, and the kitchen doubled in size. In fact, almost a complete transformation has been brought about in the past seven years in the state prison. In the hospital quarters are now being fitted up for the criminal insane, where they will be treated as patients by a surgeon who was formerly connected with the state insane hospital near Logansport. Warden Reid, by fitting up the basement of the hospital, is making the quarters for patients more commodious. He is also planning to construct a large porch where convicts patients may have the benefit of abundant light and air.

Making the Blind See.
Success in desperate cases by conservative treatment is the lesson often repeated and yet never quite sufficiently learned by any physician or surgeon. The infinite ingenuity behind the healing processes, the never renounced struggle toward normality, is an ever renewed source of wonder. All that is needed to elicit it is confidence in it, delay in doing anything radical, watchfulness to follow up the hints to action as they begin to show themselves.
We know of a living and happy patient who ten years ago had albinism, retinitis from long existing Bright's disease despite what all the textbooks say as to "two years" in such cases. "Don't do the irrevocable thing until forced to do it" is the warning that has saved many organs and lives. Above all, never proceed with surgery ("the despair of medicine") until physiologic and medical methods have been exhausted.

Tracy Got Away.

Seattle Wash., July 10.—The pursuit of Outlaw Harry Tracey appears to be temporarily suspended. Sheriff Cuddehe has called in the guards from the southern suburbs, leaving only a sufficient number for careful patrol. It is believed that Cuddehe expects the convict, if he reappears at all, to show up in another part of the country. The posse that started from Renton with the bloodhounds returned after a fruitless search.

No one would ever be bothered with constipation if everyone knew how naturally and quickly Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the stomach and bowels.

A THIEVES' MARKET.

ONE OF THE PROMINENT PLACES IN THE CITY OF MEXICO.

Any Policeman Will Show You the Way to It and You May There Purchase Stolen Goods by the Single Piece or by the Carload.

If you want to know the time in the City of Mexico; if you need household goods, objects of art or of personal adornment; in fact, if there is anything you desire from a plausibility to a red-hot stove—just ask a policeman.

He will point the way to the thieves' market without any more idea of laws than deal with those who receive stolen goods than if you had asked him the way to the best hotel in the city or to one of the theaters or to the National palace. The official of the law will not hesitate to tell you that it is directly across the street from the National palace, east of the Zocalo—the park of the people—and that if you are timid about the size of the load you wish to take there the gate is large enough to drive the biggest truck through without inconvenience. It is a very simple matter to find the thieves' market.

It is no small establishment, but a city institution, with a court as large as a city block, and it is crowded from morning to night with those who are looking for bargains without the slightest idea of moral wrong in buying stolen goods. Indeed it is stated that now and then persons find property once belonging to them exposed there for sale at prices so reasonable that it would be absurd to go to law about it and lay up against the delightful convenient "manana" the trouble of appearing in court.

The market is just what its name implies—a thieves' market, where things do not corrupt, because there is always a stream of purchasers for goods at ridiculous prices. Nothing remains in stock over a few days. Spread out on tables or piled high on the ground can be found samples of almost anything, for the Mexican ratero is not particular what he steals. The thieves do not themselves act as the salesmen, for this would be dishonest even to the Mexican mind. They dispose of their plunder either for a lump sum or take a commission from the sellers.

There is no assortment of goods as to class or kind. It is a case of pick and choose. Crockery, cutlery, tinware and cooking utensils are the main staples, for the Mexican is careless, and the thieves of his kind find this sort of plunder easy to get and with a ready market. The proprietor of one of the well known local restaurants admits that nearly all his knives, forks and table linen come from the thieves' market. He makes it a point regularly to visit there to replenish what may have been stolen from his own place.

But it is perhaps in the line of curiosities, books and objects of art that the thieves' market is most interesting. The libraries of the monks, scattered in the war of reform, are represented now and then. The thieves, of course, know nothing of the value of the books.

Recently a folio of Shakespeare, bound in vellum, in splendid condition, notwithstanding the long age date of its publication, was picked up by a book lover for $1.50 in Mexican silver. Several bibliophiles of the United States have regular agents in the thieves' market, and it pays them.

With Maximilian and his court many rare works of art came to Mexico. In the rush away from Mexico these were left behind. Within the last month a fan, beyond doubt by Watteau, was bought in the thieves' market for $8. The painting is still bright, the lace exquisite and rare, and the ivory sticks, inlaid with gold, are still intact.

Mexico's many wars have made the country an arsenal of obsolete weapons. Swords, guns and firearms from the time of Cortes to the present decade can be picked up in the thieves' market for little or nothing. Some of them, outside of their value as curios, are of intrinsic worth, as an American discovered not long ago. He bought for a trifle an old sword, tarnished and dirty. The style of the hilt pleased him. When he had it cleaned, he found that scabbard, hilt and blade were inlaid with rich gold of marvelous artistic design.—City of Mexico Letter in New York Times.

George A. Clark has received a pen of fine White Plymouth Rock chickens from U. R. Fishel, the famous fancy poultry breeder, of Hope, Indiana.

The Best Liniment for Strains.

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. Hot Weather Cookery.

Croquettes and patties form an important division in the class of dishes known as entrees, and the list is nearly interminable. An excellent article on this subject in the August delineator will prove useful to housewives in their general instructions and their tested recipes. In addition will be found a variety of cold dishes for summer, and a useful article on the possibilities of apricots, and two illustrated pages of a temptingly cool dinner for hot weather.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

The train arrived in this city two hours and thirty-eight minutes late and while going from here to St. Louis one hour and fifteen minutes of this time was made up. The train left this city at four o'clock and arrived in St. Louis at 7:08 p. m., thus making the run of 166 miles in 188 minutes.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of every family. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer-time.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by C. W. Milhous.
